Texas Christian University Was a Snap

Texas' second game played last Saturday with T. C. U. proved another easy victory for her, but her opponents showed up unexpectedly strong on the defensive game or a larger score than 22 to 0 would have been piled up. Texas' best game, however, was played while she was on the offensive. On the whole the game was slow and lacked snap; but this is doubtless to be attributed to the fact that it was looked on as easy. Texas' best ground gainers were Caldwell, Hendrickson and R. Ramsdell, while Krah, Adams and Hastings also did good work. Duncan, too, played a strong end, but the work on the other end was noticeably weak, nor was the work at quarter entirely satisfactory, in fact it may be said that the greatest need of the team at present is development at this position. The lack of a good kicker again made itself felt in Texas' failure to kick two of her four goals.

For T. C. U. the best game was played by Pyburn and Thomas, and Tyson also did good work.

The star of the game was Hendrickson, his runs through broken fields being spectacular in the extreme. Also deserving of special mention was Caldwell's kicking and the tackling of Dyer, which was steady, sure and quick. Pyburn's work in the line was also excellent.

The small amount of time which was wasted and the entire absence of injuries (only one man being laid out, and that temporarily) seems to be a compliment to the new rules.

Texas' prospects are growing steadily brighter and tomorrow's game will probably show great improvement over both the others.

Ramsdell smashes left guard for eleven yards, Caldwell gets four through his own side the line, Hendrickson gets two yards through center, and Caldwell six more through left guard. Tackle through tackle nets two yards. Texas ball on Texas Christian University's fifteen-yard line. Hendrickson and Ramsdell make first down in two plays. A cross buck gains only one-half yard. Texas fails to gain on the next two downs, and ball goes over on Texas Christian University's four-yard line. Texas Christian University can not gain and is forced to kick. Texas blocks the ball and gets it on Texas Christian University's two-yard line. Caldwell goes over for the second touch down in seven and one half minutes. Caldwell punts out to Mainland who heels the hatch for a goal kick. Caldwell misses goal. Score: Texas, 10; Texas Christian University, 0.

With four and a-half minutes to play, Hastings receives Texas Christian University's kick on Texas' five-yard line and returns seventeen yards. Caldwell makes seven yards in a cross buck, Hendrickson makes two and a half through right tackle. R. Ramsdell gets five yards through left tackle, right end play gains nothing, cross buck nets four yards. Harley replaces Jones at

The Christian Associations

Y. M. C. A.

Motozo Akazawa, B. S., '05, who will be remembered by the students as the little "Jap," has gone to his native country as a Protestant missionary. He arrived in Japan Saturday, and preached his first sermon to his own people Sunday. The delegates from the University to the Students Volunteer Convention at Nashville last spring are paying $100 per year toward his support. Mr. Akazawa is going to work chiefly among the industrial classes, and the students here hope for him great success.

The delegates to the Nashville Convention last year, on their return organized into a permanent bond to further the interests of the Master's cause. Their first meeting for the present session was called Wednesday evening. Most of the members are back and hope to do more this year for the cause than they did last year.

The Employment Bureau under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. has secured positions for several students and have about ten places open yet. If any young men desire to work for part of their expenses, they should see Mr. Burke Baker or Mr. W. W. Crutchfield at once.

PROBABILITY OF MR. JNO. R. MOTT VISITING THE UNIVERSITY.

Mr. John R. Mott, the chairman of the Student Volunteer Movement, and General Secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, will leave New York City soon to visit Mexico in the interest of the work. At a joint meeting of the missionary committees of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s it was decided to send a telegram to Mr. Mott inviting him to visit the University of Texas, while in the West. Mr. Householder, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. missionary committee received a letter last week in reply to the telegram in which Mr. Mott stated that if he found it possible to cut his visit short in Mexico he might stop over at the University on his return trip.

The local Student Volunteer Band have also sent Mr. Mott a telegram urging a visit. Last Saturday President Houston sent a personal invitation and the college secretary has written, insisting that he stop over in Austin for at least one address.

Mr. Mott is an International man having made seventeen trips around the world in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. work among students. He has spoken to more students than any man living. A visit from him would be a great thing for Texas, in that he is one of the most powerful speakers in the world.

The Y. M. C. A. will be addressed next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Judge L. J. Brown, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. Judge Brown is an able and eloquent speaker, and is the student's friend. He will say something worth hearing. The quartette will sing. If room 70 is too small we'll go to the Auditorium.

Secretary for the Y. M. C. A. for the State, S. E. Kincaide, spent last Saturday and Sunday in Austin. He was here to visit the city association, but called also at the University.

An interesting meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held yesterday under the direction of the Bible Study committee, which has Miss Lil Waggener as its chairman.

The committee has planned some splendid work for the year, and are enrolling new students daily in the Bible Study classes.

After Miss Waggener had read the committee's report to the association, and had given a short talk, Miss Hallett Searcy sang "Lead Kindly Light," which was very much appreciated by every one present.

The Missionary committee will have the meeting for next Monday in charge; a large attendance is urgently requested.

A joint picnic of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. will be given next Friday, Oct. 26. The picnic party will meet at the Woman's Building steps at 4 o'clock. Please come. Everyone is welcome.

We make KODAK prints every day. Jordan, 610 Congress Ave., upstairs.

THE BAND TO TAKE A TRIP.

At a meeting of the 'Varsity Band last Monday it was decided to accept the invitation of the Dallas Fair Association to play in Dallas next week. Transportation and accommodations have been arranged, and the band will leave here next Friday. They expect to give a concert there Saturday evening, and to return Monday. Dr. E. P. Schoch will accompany the band on its trip.

The band this year by far surpasses the one of last year. It is not only better equipped, but many new instruments, not used heretofore, have been added. There is no doubt that it will do credit to the University, and the people of Dallas should feel complimented to have an opportunity to hear our 'Varsity Band.

The Central Skating Rink, 122 East Ninth St., is up-to-date in every way, including a fine new maple floor, Richardson skates, etc. Admission free. Six skate tickets for $1.

DEBATING OUTLOOK FOR TEXAS.

Activities and Enthusiasm in Literary Society Circles.

The opening of the Athenaeum and Rusk literary societies marks the beginning of another year of the University's debating history. And whatever may have been the results in the past the 'Varsity will hold her own in the debates with other Universities this year.

The signs of activity which are so manifest this year in literary society circles is proof enough that the debating spirit has not died out. The University has perhaps lacked much of the debating enthusiasm which is so necessary for an institution of this size. But the students have awakened to this fact, and this year there seems to be a greater enthusiasm than ever before.

It is true that we lost several of our best debaters last year, but while these old ones are slowly passing out, the new order is making itself felt. There could be no better debaters than Joe Worsham and Sam Lattimore. There could be no better orator than Edmond B. Griffin. But Alex Pope, champion debater of 1905 and 1906, is still here. The invincible John Keen and the sedate Bob Haynie are back again ready to wreak vengeance on Tulane. J. J. D. Cobb with that thundering voice, is ready to tackle Baylor once more. Frank Ryburn, J. I. Kercheville, Clarence Kendall, H. L. Davis, and John B. Marshall are only too willing to render all possible assistance. Then, also, we must include our first-year men. It may be too early to make any predictions. But judging from the large numbers of Freshmen and Junior Laws who are taking Oratory 7, we are certain to find some good material developed among them.

The University will debate this year with Missouri, Tulane, and Baylor. She has won from Missouri for the last three years, and there is no reason why she should not continue her good work. Tulane, on the other hand, has won from us for the last three years. But there is no reason why we can't turn the tables this year. We lost to Baylor last year, and accepted our defeat in silence. But we are ready now to teach the Baylorites a lesson. The debate will be held here this year, and we have an opportunity to show Baylor how to treat a visiting debating team. We will show her that Texas can win.

We have reason to be proud of the past record of our University debaters; we have reason to be enthusiastic over the prospects this year. And, although we may differ on some questions, we should always be found shoulder to shoulder in endeavoring to hold up the reputation of our University. So let us come out and cheer our debaters on to victory on the forum, as we do our football players on the gridiron. Texas must win her debates this year; she will win.

LADIES LITERARY LEAGUES.

The 1905-'06 catalogue contains the following: "The young women have three literary societies, the Ashbel, the Sidney Lanier, and the Reagan. These societies are in a flourishing condition, and form a most important means of culture, especially in speaking and writing."

In brief discussion of these, the first mention, from the standpoint of wide popularity, should be, of course, the Ashbel, an organization that has made itself justly famous by the annual rendition of a public program. But of it little need be; or by the layman can be, said, further than a mention of the fame it has gathered as an operatic entertainer. When the Ashbel gives an entertainment the student body turns out in wonder and admiration.

Of the Sidney Lanier a little more, of a slightly less populace-stirring nature, may be said. The 1906 Cactus gives a brief sketch of the Lanier's history: Organized June 7, 1900, for the purpose of promoting helpful, pleasant intercourse among its members, and of establishing a student's loan fund. * * * Attained both these objects. * * * Programs varied by reading of the poems of the great Southern poet for whom it was named.

Of the Reagan less record exists (and the haste with which this article is prepared makes other information unavailable). The 1906 Cactus devotes a page, with explanation, to a picture and roster of the members of the John H. Reagan Society. The name itself implies its origin; the roster of members, its worthy ambition.

"An invitation to join these societies originates with the societies," says the Y. M. C. A. handbook.

The 1904-'05 catalogue says: "The young women have * * * literary societies * * * which meet in the halls reserved for them." In this statement the worthy compiler of the catalogue was guilty of a slight misadventure—there is a hall reserved but for one society, and that society has the exclusive use and control of the hall. Why only one hall is "reserved for them" is easily apparent when the crowded condition of the University is considered. But why, in this age of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none," the hall should be reserved for the exclusive use of one society is something that can be only conjectured. Perhaps it is because the first comer, organized at a time when left end. Third down, six yards to gain. Attempted backward pass results in a free fumble, but Ramsdell falls on the ball. Duncan cuts through left tackle eight yards, Caldwell bucks six more and Hendrickson follows with seven yards through right guard. First down. Caldwell kicks twenty-five yards, and Texas Christian University's quarter is downed in his tracks. Time up with the ball on Texas Christian University's forty-yard line.

Backs for Texas did good work throughout the half. Texas Christian University showed up well on defense, playing low in the line.

Second Half—Williams replaces Dyer at quarter, Fink takes Feldahke's place at left tackle, Feldahke goes in right guard, Adams at right half and Krahll at full. Hendrickson kicks off to Texas Christian University's fifteen yard line. Ball is returned ten yards. Texas Christian University fails to gain in two downs and quarter back kicks. Hendrickson gets ball on Texas Christian University's forty-five yard line. Texas makes three yards on quarter back run. Adams makes ten yards around left end, and R. Ramsdell runs left tackle for thirty yards and a touch down. Time: Two minutes. R. Ramsdell kicks goal. Score: Texas, 16; Texas Christian University, 0.

Texas Christian University kicks off to Texas' fifteen-yard line, Hendrickson returning the ball twenty-five yards by beautiful broken field running. Hendrickson makes five yards on a cross buck. Fake kick gets twenty yards for Texas, quarter back run loses five yards. Texas' kick is blocked and ball is Texas Christian University's on Texas' forty-five yard line. Texas Christian University on a pretty double pass makes fifteen yards around right end. Another double pass loses five yards. Texas throws Texas Christian University's right half back for a two-yard loss. Texas Christian University's kick is blocked, but Texas Christian University falls on the ball, and is penalized fifteen yards for holding. Ball is on Texas Christian University's twenty-seven-yard line. Lipscomb replaces Harley at left end. Texas Christian University can not gain, and Texas gets ball on a fumble, on the twenty-five-yard line. Fink makes three yards through right tackle. By steady gains Texas carries the ball over for a touch down in eight minutes of play. R. Ramsdell kicks goal. Score: Texas, 22; Texas Christian University, 0.

Fred Ramsdell replaces Hendrickson. Ten minutes to play.

There was no further scoring during the game. Texas would carry the ball long distances only to lose it on downs or a fumble. Texas Christian University seemed to play better toward the close, her resistance strengthened by quick work getting the ball in fumbles and blocked kicks, she succeeded in working the ball down as far as Texas' thirty-yard line. Here a place kick was attempted by Texas Christian University, but the ball went wild. Texas secured the ball and was working it down the field at the rate of six to twenty-five yards a down when time was called. The ball was on Texas' forty-yard line.

Officials: Referee and umpire (alternating): Mr. Glasscock, Mr. Garrard.

Time Keepers: Mr. Francis, Mr. Hall.

Linesmen: Mr. Robertson, Mr. Hall.

Line Up.

Manager Montgomery of the track team has received a letter inviting Texas to take part in a meet of the Southern Association of the Amateur Athletic Union to be held at Shreveport on November 20, during the Shreveport fair, at which many of the leading institutions of the south will be represented. It is not likely however, that Texas will send a team to this meet since many of her best men are now out for football and these as well as the rest of the team are not in training nor is there sufficient time to put them into shape.

A football game is to be played between the second team and the boys from the State school for the Dumb on next Saturday, October 27. The price of admission will be twenty-five cents, and as an additional inducement, the management has arranged for full reports from the game with Vanderbilt which varsity is to play that day, the results of which will be announced upon the field from time to time. The game is sure to be a good one, for the line between the first and second teams is still very doubtful, so doubtful that Coach Schenker has no very enviable task in selecting the men who shall go on the trip. This insures a good game on the part of the second team and the Dumb boys are sure to put up the same snappy and gritty game which they always play even in the face of defeat.

On November 2nd the second team will play St. Edwards and reports will be made on the Oklahoma game.

Tomorrow's Game.

That the prep boys from West Texas will not be such a walk over, as many seem to expect, is evidenced by the fact that they have defeated the soldiers from Fort Sam Houston. Indeed their team averages 162 pounds to the man, and is under the efficient training of Mr. W. P. Blocker, who was not only one of Varsity's best players in his day, but was also one of Coach Hutchinson's ablest assistants, both with the class teams and in special work on the Varsity itself. Hence it may be expected that the cadet boys will know the game, and this fact coupled with their weight insures an interesting game tomorrow.

Coach Schenker has had the Texas team at unusually stiff practice every day this week in preparation for the trip on which they are to meet some strong teams. Jacoby is now out for quarter. He has not been on the squad before, but played at that position on his class team as well as on the team

To Abolish Co-Education.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Co-education at the University of Chicago is to be abolished. Its official death warrant has been signed by the faculty, and henceforth, as fast as plans can be matured, the men and women are to be gradually separated until complete segregation has ultimately been secured. The final aim is to build up two official universities, one for women and the other for men.

Dean William D. McClintock made announcement today of the new plans for the women's college of philosophy. "The arrangements," Dean McClintock announced, "will insure privacy both to the men and the women." The new plans are expected, however, to bring out bitter protests from those favoring the intermingling of the two sexes because of the refining influences on the boys by the presence of the girls.

THE SHAME OF TEXAS.

The real shame of Texas is not the questionable conduct of Joseph Weldon Bailey; neither is it the frantic, Pharisical, hypocritical demagogical limelight performances of William Randolph Hearst and his Ring and rings. Nope, that is not it! No more is it the Puritanical pretensions of the prohibitionist or the satanical dictation of Sour Kraut, Busch & Co. These things are tangibly present, it can not be denied, and they are just as disgraceful as they are persistent, but they constitute merely the frothing scum that conceals the real depth of the cesspool. The shame of Texas strikes deeper than any gaudy mantle that may cover the shoulders of decrepit democracy; it is more consistent, more persistent, and, consequently, far more dangerous than the political ebullition that has filled the ears and eyes of Texas democracy through the last few months. The eternal question is, "What is it?"

The Texan claims no title as doctor of politics, neither does it profess the power of a seer any more than it claims to understand and unravel all mystery; but as a simple, humble-minded, country democrat who claims an unfettered mind and who believes in eternal truth and right, it lays the shame of Texas at the door of the prejudiced or indifferent voter whose wealth of feeling overtips his paucity of reason, at the door of the democrat who would consider a break with the customs of his daddies as blasphemous apostasy and who would rather sacrifice his good right arm than to scratch a nominee of the party, even though said nominee be a "yaller dog" that deserves scratching with a shot gun, a baseball bat, or a tin can. But we would not stop at the door of the automatic voter with the whole burden of the shame of Texas; with unjaundiced eye and unerring instinct we would seek out from among the hosts the single barbed, one-gallused, farmers-union politician whose only claim to leadership is an inordinate endowment of sultry ozone and whose only qualification for office is a hide that would turn a shower of brick-bats—we would seek him out and stain his scutcheon with the shame of Texas. Still we might be wrong, for it is just possible that our friend's activity and his supporters' blind following may be founded in a deep reverence for sacred things; let's be careful, for there is a striking resemblance in the political Moses to at least two Biblical characters: think of Sampson and the weapon with which he landed on the Phillistines; think of Balaam's mount and his remarkable gift; then think of the "Gentleman from Wayback" with awe!

Now to definitions: the burning shame of Texas is that noise like a vacuity that resounds in the state treasury; that depreciated and depreciating script! The great state of Texas a bankrupt! Imperial dominions and dimensions, incomprehensible resources, and yet insolvent for years! Potentially, the first of the states in all things; actually, a cow's trail in the procession of commonwealths. Candidly and authoritatively, we must fall in behind Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas—the limit! Paying a Confed. a pension; Confed. hobbling down the avenue seeking somebody to shave and cash Texas script! Among the first of the states in amount of taxable property; one of the very highest tax rates in the United States; a gaping hiatus between income and expenditure; pleasant assortment of facts. O tempora! O Mores! Aw shucks! We don't like any such shame of Texas.

The democratic voter has nobody to lambast but himself for the shame of Texas. He has been mistaking brass for brains, gall and gab for grey-matter, ability to tear great jagged holes in the atmosphere for ability to perform in mental athletics; he has been sending men to the legislature whose instruction in arithmetic the multiplication table, addition and subtraction were omitted. They couldn't figure; they spent five dollars when they only had four. Give us some mathematicians in the 30th.

THAT LAW SMOKER.

At the meeting of the law department Monday a committee of five—Miller, Pope, Parish, Taub, Graves—was appointed to make plans for a great smoker to be held sometime in the near future. Precedent and logic both demand it.

The engineers' annual banquet has become one of the most pleasurable events of the year; it is looked upon, and rightly, by every engineer as the "one great event toward which all nations move," the source from whence most blessings flow. It has been a monumental success; it is fast becoming a cherished tradition. Then is there any reason why the law smoker should not be brought forth and made a part of the department? The idea ought to appeal to every follower of old Perigrinus.

EXPERIENCE TEACHES ONLY THOSE WHO CAN REASON.

Two weeks ago The Texan suggested and urged that a rooting club be organized, and that constant practice be done. Now, that the squad has been organized, rather, that a yell-master and several assistants have been elected, it desires to urge anew the necessity of hearty co-operation in this work by the whole student body. The leaders can do nothing by themselves; we must help them. It ought to be a mere matter of course that we are on hand at the games, and that we ought to make our presence a noisy one; it ought to be a matter of pride to us to show our appreciation of the team's efforts in behalf of Texas in such a helpful way. Loyal, hearty, continuous, consistent rooting helps to win the game, figure it out as you may. The two games already played, snaps though they were, illustrate the lesson. They were as listless, dull, and uninteresting as a verbal performance in Hot Air I., and as cold as an icicle, if the spirit manifested in the grandstand and bleachers be taken as an indication. But, on the contrary, both games were live propositions, and they ought to have provoked, at least, enough enthusiasm to show an interest in the team and the contest. Texas, of course, did not actually need support from the grandstand to beat the Troopers and the Preachers, but it did need enthusiastic support to brace it up for the trip. Above all, the team demands help from us to scalp the Indians and to dress the Farmers. Let's recognize and realize our duty and DO it; let's do our part, the team will do its part. Before we can do our part we must be in a condition to do it, and, in order for us to get in that condition, there must be systematic practice. Is it too much to ask? Other people do it. Let's begin the practice at the game tomorrow, and keep it up until the Agrarians, sadder and wiser men, Homeward plod their weary way!

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

the University buildings' capacity to accommodate was in proportion to the faculty's generous feeling toward ladies literary societies, secured the grant of a hall and held to it. But why, when other ladies' societies were formed, the first comer should not be as generous towards its less pretentious, perhaps—but certainly no less deserving—sister societies as toward a cactus board or a pan-frat. congress is a question more open to conjecture than was the question concerning the origin of the special privilege.

However, this is not to judge or to criticize; for there is, likely, a good and sufficient reason why three women's societies, each holding a meeting once in two weeks, can not use the same attractive hall, rather than oblige two of the societies to use any old vacant class-room for an assembly hall.

THE RUSK.

The Rusk means business. Regardless of the rain Saturday night, almost every seat in the hall was filled, and a very interesting program was carried out.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Declamations—Mr. Faber and A. L. Meadows.

Oration—A. J. Crawford.

Debate—Resolved, That the Railroad Commission was justified in Reducing H. & T. C. fare to two and one-half cents per mile.

Affirmative: F. W. Householder and J. U. Keith.

Negative: Messrs. Vickers and Rice.

The debate was the most heated that has been heard in the Rusk Hall in some time. The judges decided in favor of the negative.

Much interest is being taken in the Rusk in extempore speaking. As evidence of this the program committee was authorized by motion to make a place on each program for four extempore speakers.

A number of new men were added to the roll.

The program for the next meeting, Oct. 20, is as follows:

Declamations—P. W. Jeffery, W. E. Neeley, H. O. Norwood.

Orations—E. G. Gary, J. Garrett, T. A. Keith.

Debate—Resolved, That the Federal Government should own and operate the railroads.

Affirmative: J. Humphrey, Edwin Hull.

Negative: C. D. King, J. G. Jones.

THE ATHENAEUM.

The Athenaeum literary society held its second regular meeting last Saturday evening. In spite of the disagreeable weather, the meeting was largely attended, and many new members were taken in. President J. M. Jones presided, and the following program was rendered:

Declamation—E. L. Harris.

Oration—G. M. McDonnell.

Debate:

Question, "Resolved, That Texas should be divided into two or more States."

Affirmative: Haynie and Calloway.

Negative: Ryburn and Cater.

The judges rendered a decision in favor of the negative.

The following men were elected to active membership: Eugene A. Harris, A. C. Petsch, Thomas J. Williams, Edmund Heinsohn, C. Land, J. R. Cox, Jr., and E. R. Howell. Among the old members who were reinstated are: J. M. Burford, Carl Pool, Morris Browning, T. W. Menifee, Robert Carson, G. M. McDowell, R. T. Jones, and R. W. Cowan.

The program was arranged for Saturday evening, Oct. 20, is as follows:

Orations—W. H. Campbell and C. Clements.

Debate:

Question: "Resolved, That the faculty of the University of Texas should have one hebdomadal holiday exclusive of Sunday."

Affirmative: R. G. Cater, L. A. Casey, H. H. Cook, and R. R. Smith.

Negative: E. F. Ferguson, J. W. Fuchs, McKean and Paul Haynes.

Extempore:

E. L. Harris, V. O. Key, H. B. Laufland, W. B. Hamalton.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 sharp, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

WILLIAM GILL SHAW.

Whereas the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, in His inscrutable wisdom, has seen fit to take from our midst our class-mate and brother, William Gill Shaw; and

Whereas, by his noble qualities of heart and mind he endeared himself to us, his classmates; and

Whereas, in the hour of death, as in life, he showed the heroic qualities of a true and noble man; and

Whereas, we desire to voice the pride that we, individually and collectively, feel to have known and claimed him as a friend and fellow student, therefore, BE IT RESOLVED, That we are deeply sensible of the loss that we have suffered, in the untimely death of a friend and brother, and that we extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to the grief-stricken mother, brother, and uncle.

And be it Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to these relatives, and that a copy be placed upon the minutes of the Students Association of the University of Texas.

EXTRACTS FROM A LETTER FROM
JOHN P. MARRS.

Colorado, Texas, Oct. 11, 1906.
Mr. Luther Nickels, Editor Texan.

Dear Nickels: I intended writing you sooner than this, but I have been pretty busy skipping around over this country. I want you to begin with the first issue of the Texan and send it to me for the session. Please find enclosed postoffice money order for $1.25 to pay for same. I am anxious to keep up with Varsity happenings. I saw in the papers where the boys in law are crowded together down there like sardines in a box. I hope that law building will be forthcoming. We "senior laws" still intend doing what Maurice Wolf said we would do in his speech at our banquet last year, namely, come back and raise an insurrection among the noble laws, if that new "law building" is not brought forth within the next twelve months.

After looking around a good deal in the west, I decided to locate at Colorado City. It is a small town on the Texas Pacific, 230 miles west of Fort Worth, in the county seat of Mitchell county, and has about 3000 people, being the largest town between Abilene and El Paso. * * *

Everybody seems to have money, and seems ready to spend it. The lawyers seem here, as well as everybody else, are doing better than in any place that I know of. * * *

I am practicing law alone, but have formed a partnership in the real estate business with Judge James L. Shepherd of this place. He is an excellent gentleman, and is now district judge of this, the Thirty-second Judicial District. I am proud to say that I believe we have the finest and most up-to-date offices in the west, and have prospects of doing a splendid land business when we get straightened out. I am well pleased with the prospects of the immediate future. I have just been here about ten

Give my regards to all the boys, and don't forget to send me the first issue of the Texan, as well as all the others. Your friend,

THE WORKING HABIT.

There's a certain small sensation
That invades our very soul.
Every man in every station
Feels its grasp, both firm and cold;
Though I tell it with great sorrow,
Still it happens just this way,
"One puts off until tomorrow
What he ought to do today."

Though your motto be "strict promptness,"
"To-day" or "to-morrow,"
There's this underlying business
That says, "I don't see how
I can do this task; Oh, horror!
I shall manage it this way
Put it off until to-morrow
For there's other things to-day."

You are far behind in class-work,
That composition's due;
The profits have really talked of "shirk,"
You've cut a class or two;
Someone's notes you always borrow,
For in class you're sure to say,
"There'll be much more time to-morrow,
And I'm feeling bad to-day."

Oftentimes you feel fine and dandy,
Then your books are just a treat,
But in a bed or sofa's handy
Then to one you "need the sleep."
Some professors to our sorrow
Say, "decline and don't decline,"
Still we wait until to-morrow
For to-day we haven't time.

Did you ever guess while thinking
That it would be quite unique
To procrastinate one's drinking
Resign his meals and sleep,
Then defer his respiration—
Now St. Peter has his say,
"No, I'll wait my respiration,
Just come back some other day!"

THE CHOICE OF THE FRESHMEN.

This story is told by a 'Varsity graduate of the first meeting of this year's Freshman Class of the State University.
A guileful Senior, after disguising himself as a Freshman, attended the meeting and nominated a certain Mr. Blank for president. He spoke eloquently of Mr. Blank's many virtues, and convinced all that this was the only man for the place. The Freshmen congratulated themselves on securing such a good man, but in the morning the story was going the rounds that the President of the Freshman Class was the negro janitor of the men's dormitory. Battalion (A.
